Subject: Fwd: Instructions for Apple TV-OK to HAVE James Set Up for the Apartments?

Date: Fri, 28 Jul 2017 12:08:29 +0000

So far, guests have been a baffled by the Apple TV...OK to have James set up the apartments with some free apps as well as type up a 'cheat sheet' to leave on the coffee tables on how to work the Apple TV?

Okay, I compiled a list of the most common stations and their corresponding AppleTV apps' requirements. Sounds like fun, I know.

The list is below, but the short version is that MOST apps require signing in with a cable provider account that has that channel purchased.

We just discontinued all the cable tv accounts for the apartments, so that doesn't help & TimeWarner's logins tend to reset themselves repeatedly anyway (I couldn't just "set it and forget it" the guest would need the account credentials). If you're wondering if we could sign them all in under the 71st St cable account... No, there's a hard limit of 5 devices per account.

There are a handful of mostly free Apps that we could pre-install on each AppleTV:

- ABC
- Bloomberg (free financial news)
- The Cartoon Network
- CBS News
- CBS Sports
- CNN (free live stream)
- CW (teen melodrama)
- PBS
- Weather channel

These apps require individual subscriptions, but most people will recognize that they need to sign in with their account:

- Hulu
- Netflix
- Pandora
- Amazon Video when it releases

I could write up something that says "hey enjoy any of the mostly free channels (list the above in a nice table format) or sign into your account on any of the subscription channels. If you'd like to install other apps, you'll need to sign in with your Apple ID / iTunes account and sign into the app as required. Please remember to sign out of your accounts when you depart."

Make it pretty, and put it in some nice display plexiglass to sit next to the TVs in the non-residential guest apartments.

These plexiglass-frames are not too cheesy:

Yeah, this is a tough situation.

Channels on AppleTV are apps. Anyone can install apps on the AppleTV by logging in with their Apple IDs (and remember to sign out after), but how each channel handles content licensing is up to them -- some have subscription services that you can buy, others require you sign in with a partnered cable account, etc.

For example:

- for HBO Go (or CNN Go) you have to sign in with a cable account that has the HBO channel on the account.
- for HBO Now, you have to subscribe for $X per month, billed to your Apple ID.
- for Disney's channels, you have to sign in with an authorized cable account, BUT TimeWarner is not one of the options.

So it's a bit of a mess.

For Nilli & Ehud I signed into one of the news channels as the account connected to 9 E 71st, but each cable account can only be on 5 devices at once (and Jeffrey has A LOT of devices he uses personally).

I'm not sure what the solution is here. I'll think on it, but I may need some guidance from Rich & JEE on how they want this to work.

Thank you,

Could we get a "cheat sheet" for how to use the Apple TV in the apartments. Guests are questioning! I just had Dr Bard ask if he can get ESPN. (?). I googled and I don't think so. Another guest just wanted to watch news ... ?
