I will introduce him to Simon Beaufoy, the writer...who eventually will write 30 episodes over the next 3 years covering J.Paul Getty's entire life and financial genius...and his lack of parenting skills creating the biggest family of emotional misfits who eventually try to break the Getty trust in the last episodes. The second year is about his dealings with the Saudies and creating the largest oil company in the world at that time...and never paid taxes. All fascinating.
