The game is tomorrow July 7th at 2pm local time St. Petersburg! They are 7 hours ahead of us here in the US...I do hope the process to confirm our credit card will take less than 24-48 hours! The game is in less than 24 hours. She will miss the game! [REDACTED] (Assistant to Jeffrey Epstein)

Dear [REDACTED],

It is standard procedure to receive an email stating your tickets are on hold, as soon as you make the purchase online the tickets come off sale from our site and state your tickets are on hold. The reason for this is the finance department has to do a fraud check for your security as well as ours, it is one of the measures we take in order to avoid fraudulent transactions through our website.

You will receive another email within 24-48 hours from your purchase confirming your tickets. If you do not receive the confirmation emails after this time period, please do not hesitate to contact us.

We will update her contact information and local address on the purchase profile.

For any other query, please do not hesitate to contact us.
