wow! I was talking with Ike about you and how you 'managed' your timing when it comes to JE schedule...so hard to fly all night (even with the biz seat) then go on to flying JE! ...and then to come back to a car service issue. I get what Bella is trying to do...she does it to all of us...which is her job to save money. But when it comes to Jeffrey he wants what he wants! I'm glad you let me know cause it is a good reminder for me as well...I too have fallen victim to Bella's demands!
I am back and in NY at Je's house...trying to catch up on all I missed! Had an amazing vacation...Aspen was truly unreal...hiking and biking with our friends...great dinners...fun fun!

So true

Bella has been on my case about the waiting charge from some car services, sometimes it's out of my control, I fell victim to Bella pushing me to save money and trying to tell me how to run the flight department, I learned my lesson,,

I was up for 36 hours, and wasn't in the mood for a delayed Car service for JEE,

I Airlined from New York to Paris Saturday night, flew all night on the airlines arrived at 8 AM in Paris Sunday morning then we departed Paris at noon Sunday and flew back to New York with JEE on the G550.

Great flight, at least I was in business class and was able to sleep on the way to Paris, but still it was a rough two days for me all is good now,

Are you back now?

Take Care

ugh...

that stinks.

Agree we must book car service to arrive a bit earlier and pay for the wait time. Jeffrey would way rather pay a few bucks than have to wait.

Hello Teresa and Gabe, the driver was late today and I arrived 15min early, and my boss had to wait outside 10 minutes, of course, he looks at me, like it's my fault, with the evil eye ,, because the Front guard gate wouldn't let the driver through expeditiously.,

I tried to cut the arrival time short so the invoice wouldn't have extra charges, my error,, my fault!

It Will not happen again,

, I will be less conservative on arrival time so the driver is certainly to be in place when it is my boss

Thx
Larry
