Hi Nili...I was correct...the people who delivered the new mattress took the old mattress away... unfortunately we do not have any apartments with king size beds...I was thinking maybe we could switch out yours with another one that might be firmer...but they are all queen size! So sorry...perhaps you could purchase a mattress topper that is firm? not sure...

Thank you for letting me know.

I will do my best to order them. I am not so acquainted with the sizes and what it needs, but I shall try to understand the system.

If we talk about those matters - you remember that we had a problem with the mattress which was wet from the ceiling drippings? You bought a new one. This one is less comfortable as it is too soft and we get back aches. Do you know where the previous one is? It was harder and therefore better for us.

Don't make too much fuzz. We don't stay for long periods, so it is not very crucial. But if you have it still, it will be an improvement.

HI Nili...Leo says you are missing fitted sheets for your bed so he is not able to truly make a properly finished bed for you...might you be able to order yourself some sheets of your liking, have them delivered to the apartment...then on Oct. 15th when he goes in the morning to touch up your apartment, he could also make up your bed with the new sheets?
