WELCOME !
You've come to the right place.

If you are the parent of a child you suspect may have special learning needs and who isn't making progress in school,

Our special education advocates help you find out why and what to do about it.

If you believe your child is in need of learning support services but school won't provide any,

Our special education advocates help you get action.

If you are just confused and frustrated by the whole special education system,

Our special education advocates help you make it work for your child.

THE QUESTION IS:

ARE YOU READY TO GET HELP?

IF YES, THEN CLICK HERE

WHAT IS IT THAT WE DO?

We are special education advocates who provide support across the state of Connecticut to families with children who have special learning needs, such as autism; specific learning, developmental, or intellectual disabilities; ADD/ADHD; speech & language, orthopedic, visual or hearing impairments; or emotional disturbance.

We help you ensure that your school district is providing your child with an educational program that truly meets his or her special needs, and, if the school cannot or will not provide such a program, help you determine and pursue your relevant options.

OUR WORK IS OUR BEST ADVERTISEMENT !

The majority of our work comes through personal referrals. So, if the past is any indicator, most of you visiting our site today were referred by someone you know who was very happy with the work that we did on their behalf.

If you found us on your own and are interested in what some families that we have helped have to say about CAA and our special education advocates?
