I see.. may be then keep one of them in the bedroom for the night, you will just need to bring one litter box and food in the room too..
Or you can close bedroom for the night and let them stay together in the rest of the apartment.. I know it is so hard to tell when it gets rough..but when they are by themselves diluting the day I guess it is the same?

I suppose... just get so nervous cos she is so little, seems to be when she is jumping around a lot ,could go back to the adult cat thinking there is something wrong with them like you mentioned. I tried to keep chi in and blue out with Chis litter water and dry food into he bedroom, but then [REDACTED] was meowing for her... so maybe both out
