Hi Karina,

Ok, I am more than happy to pick you up with my car and would prefer to do that instead of you taking the train, but it is entirely up to you. Just let me know what you would like to do.

Yes, I was very tired after the race but I was so happy with my running time. :)

You are looking for a new job back at home? I'm so sorry to hear you are leaving. :(I'll call tomorrow right before I pick you up at 11am or (if you decide to take the train) then I'll call when I get there, ok?

Did you decide to leave Dr. Malik for a reason??

Ok, I live at [REDACTED] it's Uptown Manhattan ([REDACTED] but it's not so far from the museum, so it's not a problem for me to go there by the train. You may call me if you need - [REDACTED] this is my phone number.

13.1miles running whithout breaks?! Not a bad result, I should say:)

And I'm looking for a new job, I told Dr. Malik, that I'm gonna return back to my country...so, that's the result! And how is your new job, how do you like it?

I've been to Chicago a few times but this was the first time in about 10 years. It was so beautiful. I was able to run a half-marathon which is 13.1 miles. I was there with my family. :)

I have been to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. It is a very fun museum.

I listen to music depending on my mood as well. My favorite is definitely jazz, you are right. :) I'm not sure when I'll come back to Dr. Malik because I have to actually sign up for my dental insurance. I didn't realize I hadn't done that yet. I'm waiting for a confirmation from my insurance so I can get my insurance card.

I will be driving on Saturday, would you like for me to pick you up from your apartment? That was you don't have to walk all the way to the other side of the park.

Oh, you went to Chicago this weekend, is it your first time there? How do you like it?

What about museums, I'd like to see something connected with art and medicine. Have you ever been to Metropolitan Museum? And music...I like different types, it depends on mood you know, and you prefer jazz as I remember?)

When are u going to visit Dr. Malik next time?) Our office is closing for reconstruction this Thursday till August the 18th, as I know...
