Hi Andrew,

I have purchased a new AC unit with higher BTUs for my living room. I have it in my apt and was wondering if someone might be available to come install it for me this week? Also, I am having a new radiator cover for my living room fabricated by a contractor who is asking for information to prepare the insurance certificate if you can pls let me know what I need to provide him with.

I also think there is something wrong with the lights in my kitchen. There are small lights under the kitchen cabinets which won't turn on. I've changed the bulbs, but it does not help, so I think there must be a short or something. Not sure if there is someone who could have a look at that as well?

Thank you!
