

From: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
To: [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]>
Subject: Re:
Date: Mon, 01 Oct 2012 21:51:52 +0000

I agree [REDACTED]. we are all willing to go the extra mile and get dirty doing whatever needs to be done. I don't get that impression from her at all. I feel like it's almost uncomfortable asking her to do these things, like she's "above it" and doesn't take the initiative even when it's to benefit herself. I don't like it. Not what we need in this position.

On Sep 27, 2012, at 6:23 PM, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]> wrote:

she will be here in time, I think she was just not happy about doing it

On Thu, Sep 27, 2012 at 6:13 PM, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]> wrote:

She can leave the sweatshirts. It's a priority for her to be where JE wants her to be

On Sep 28, 2012, at 1:01 AM, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]> wrote:

> [REDACTED] has phoned me twice complaining from the sweatshirt place. The last time she said she is going to email JE and tell him she will be late as the sweatshirts weren't ready.

>

> I am going to stay professional and diplomatic but if she wants to be in this she is really going to have to roll up her sleeves and do the work.

>

> THis morning it was that it is difficult to collect taxi receipts and yesterday that there were no cleaning fluids in her apartment when she moved in so she has not been able to do any cleaning up until now.