I miss you tons and tons too!!! I've never been to the Piers before.. apparently there is more furniture and home stuff there, so I'm gonna check it out! Maybe I can stop by Javitz and say hi since I will be in the area. How long will you be there today?

Hey! Omg that is some craziness!!! You are insane all over the place like that. I think that is definitely for the BEST re: story. He needs to get his shit together and this is the first step in the right direction! I am heading to the javits today for the show....never been to the peirs- is it worth going over there? I know that it is cheaper to show there then the javits so I never thought to go...let me know and I will!! Lets def try to get together next week! miss you tons! xoxo

Hey darlin! Just got back from paris yesterday. I actually met with someone in NY this morning about making a few prototypes first to play with some ideas before I think about making more!

I'm leaving for the island early in the morning. JE is still in paris and wants me to check up on everything. It never stops! I'm flying to Palm Beach from there to spend Story's 30th bday in PB with his family. His bday is on Friday.

He made the decision this week to move back to PB to start working in PB while he finishes his degree so he can maintain Florida residency. Plus he just wasn't happy here and I think will do much better in PB.

I think it's for the best. We shall see.

I should be back in the city next week. I would love to see you!

I'm also going to check out the NY Gift Fair today. Will you by any chance be there? I'm going to check out the home stuff at Pier 94, but will you be at Javitz?
