Thank you! Sounds great, I hope she enjoys working for them! Have never heard of the company before, would love to explore...

I have just started working for Rodan and Fields skincare company (currently #1 skincare products company in the US) as a consultant...I am selling clinical, dermatologist-created skincare products. Would you forward this email to the girls if any of them are interested in considering new skincare products? I can help them figure out what they would want/need the most. All of the products are amazing - the company was created by the two dermatologists who founded Proactiv.
