Hello [REDACTED] and [REDACTED],

As we spoke before, we should never wait for the day when we are out of Mr. Epstein's coffee and only then realize that we need to buy more. (same applies to the rest of the household, and therefore there should be a periodic check of the inventory). There should always be an extra package of coffee available. At the point when there is 1 extra package left, you should order more. We are currently using Lavazza top class. Below is the link where you can order it from.

Thank you!
