Please find attached my suggestions for possible floorplans and layout. The bathroom is not in the scope of work as we haven't discussed yet, however I included a small section of it to represent the part that is visible from the bedroom upon entry or occupancy.

I am very mindful of views, which is why I indicated the bathroom like this, as there should always be something beautiful in the part visible from the bedroom. Upon entry into a room I don't like to see the side of a desk or side of a wardrobe etc. It should be inviting and feel like an entrance. Also mindful of light and windows. I know the room gets beautiful morning light from the courtyard side of the room which is why it would be my preference to enter on this side and keep the windows open, for chairs to read and the desk.

The dimensions of the room from Anna I am not entirely sold on, and the doors have been taken off their hinges in the photos, so I will need her to send me their exact dimensions and let me know if they are single or double and the way they swing. Door swings will be important for planning.
