Monday 10 March	17:30  19:30	Ann Arbor for Lecture dinner with the student organizers of the Holocaust week memorial. Approximately 10 people for an informal question-conversation format. Film: The Power of Good at the Michigan Theatre, Students will be admitted free, others $8 admission fee. For nearly half a century, Englishman Nicholas Winton kept quiet about the lives of 669 children he saved during the few months before World War II. The documentary describes their rescue from Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia through Hitler's Germany to Britain. Dr. Elisabeth Maxwell, "a world-renowned historian and one of the key figures responsible for uncovering the story of Nicholas Winton", will speak following the film. After the film they would anticipate about 30 minutes of combination brief lecture devoted to how I became interested in the Winton story and Questions. They would expect as many as 1500 to attend the film and my talk.
