Monday 10 March	17:30 19:30	Ann Arbor for Lecture dinner with the student organizers of the Holocaust week memorial. Approximately 10 people for an informal question-conversation format. Film: The Power of Good at the Michigan Theatre, Students will be admitted free, others $8 admission fee. For nearly half a century, Englishman Nicholas Winton kept quiet about the lives of 669 children he saved during the few months before World War II. The documentary describes their rescue from Nazi-occupied Czechoslovakia through Hitler's Germany to Britain. Dr. Elisabeth Maxwell, "a world-renowned historian and one of the key figures responsible for uncovering the story of Nicholas Winton", will speak following the film. After the film they would anticipate about 30 minutes of combination brief lecture devoted to how I became interested in the Winton story and Questions. They would expect as many as 1500 to attend the film and my talk.
Tuesday 11 March	12 00 19:30	at Ann Arbor for Lecture - (My 82nd Birthday) to 1:30 Luncheon at Michigan campus area with perhaps 100 attendees. Lecture & questions and answer on topics of my career and challenges (living with a famous husband, + seven children). Publicity will be aimed at primarily female students and community, with the audience at that lecture being primarily female students and Ann Arbor area female residents. (Photography Exhibit Opening: Roman Vishniac - The exhibit will run from March 11 th -28 th . Dessert-reception at the home of a Jewish community leader. Where I am expected to talk about the importance of Remembering the Holocaust.
