I do believe that tomorrow is of some significance to you! I am not emailing about that but something else that I thought you ought to know seeing as you are so into gossip and I think I might have some for you!

I last spoke to you when Carol R was coming over to see you and you mentioned something about a man called George C.

Well I have been sending round electronic Christmas cards recently and apart from sending you one I sent one to Carol and she came back this weekend with another piece of the puzzle.

She saw Mr C, as she says, at the premiere of his new movie on Thursday and they managed to "hither" (her word) to each other and apparently no one can "hither" like Mr C.

Now the indiscreet bit and the bit I don't understand: she said that she got to "licky-palm" with him. What is "licky-palm"? Is this something I must try someday?

Whatever sending you some love today... A xxx
