My darling,

I am attaching my schedule such as it looks at the moment. As you will see, the Annual Scholars Conference starts in Philadelphia on Saturday 1st March and ends Tuesday 4th March. If I am already in the United States, and therefore will not be suffering from Jet Lag, then it's OK for me to be arriving in Philadelphia on Saturday morning or early afternoon, but if I was flying from England, then I would need to arrive in Philadelphia on Friday 28 February.

Secondly I must arrive in Detroit on 9th March as I need to get rested and prepared mentally for the next two heavy working days. I then would depart very likely on the 12th unless they decide they would want me a further day which I will know to-morrow.

I therefore have a gap between 4th March and 9th March which I would like to spend in New York where I must see some friends of mine and of course yourself if you happen to be there.

Therefore it is for you to choose whether you would be able to fly me to your island or keep me in New York either in the last 10 days of February (which I assume would be nicer weather in the Caribbean) or in the 10 days following 13 or 14 March?

I do need a very quick answer on this one since my Ann Arbor hosts who are paying for my return flight from London to Detroit with pauses wherever I ask them are now in real need of my schedule so that they can obtain the best deals for flying me around.

May I ask you also if the usual "Pension money" you so generously give me every month is scheduled for the first of January, as usual, as it has not reached my bank yet?

Isabel has just returned from a 10-day trip to India and should be arriving to-night in California. She phoned me from Amsterdam and we stayed in permanent email contact. She had a very interesting time over there where she went partly for fun and partly on business as far as I can gather.

Anne and her family have returned for a week holidays in Cyprus + a 3-day cruise to Egypt very happy and rested. On arrival she found the photo signed by Clinton to Fleur and she is over the moon and will boast of it at school, I bet!! She will of course thank you for it herself and I suggest also President Clinton and could you give me an address or should she send it via you?

Ian and Kevin are fighting for their lives and mine at the present moment and I hope for all our sakes that they are successful. As a New Year present, I received an assignment in front of a Lucerne court in Switzerland for default of payment of the money I still owe Felix Posen since 1994!

Lots of love and thank you very much for your phone call, I loved hearing you on New year's day!

ta maman qui t'aime
