do you not understand the ramifications of a police report on my florida registered car,,,, re suburban i thought that the car would take two to three days to prep and then two to three days to transport to new york,,, are you saying that the car will be in new york friday.....these are the type of ambiguous communications that everyone finds so difficult to deal with..... I am furious that you would take my car without first checking,,,, no emergency,,, but for food,,, I specifically said I did not want to be burdened because you didn't want to spend the money to rent your nephew a car..... how did this happen???????????????????? I want a copy of the police report...and damage assesment, you will need to pay for this out of your own money
