Thought you would like to see how John undid my bags! Also just FYI when he was trying to leave yest I was on a very important call and could not even deal with the fact that he was hovering at my desk trying to get my attention - by the time I got off the phone he had left - Is there a way of reminding him that if he is in the hse and he wants to say something the formula was to leave a not in the pantry. I actually had something else I wanted him to do but he had left before I could tell him -
