

From: "G. Max" <[REDACTED]>

To: Ted Waitt <[REDACTED]>

Subject: Re: European Family Vacation

Date: Sun, 09 May 2004 11:58:19 +0000

<html>

Here is a tentative plan/idea - I am going to Morocco as you know May 28 - 30 (no chance of you pushing the trip up one day?) I was then going to go to St Petersburg. I could skip Russia and you can meet me in Morocco on the 31st/1st - we'd stay there until 3rd - Madrid 3-4th, (or skip Madrid and go straight to Paris and use those days for S.France) Paris 4-6th, London 6 -7, 7-9 Venice, 9-10/11 Florence, 10/11 London to pick up you family. What do you think of that idea? Alternatively, I could just meet you in London 1st and we can do the same trip (minus Madrid and Morocco and replace them w/S. France /St Tropez) starting w/Paris - coming back to London for your bro one day ?

Re trips for your family - I would have them go to Oxford for the day - stay overnight at the Manoir Quatre saison and then the next day drive up through the Cotswolds. I can plan the route - where they would stop to shop, lunch etc, ending up at Stratford, they can take in a play + stay overnight. I'd use Edinburgh as a base for Scotland - why Scotland - and where were they thinking and what were they thinking - do they have friends there? Need more info to be able to suggest something. Now that I have definitive dates I will check and see what fun stuff is going on and let you know so that you can plan stuff for your Mum to do like the open air concerts etc if she likes that stuff.

Re something in London - I can take your Mum and you to the Palace + 2 sisters + Niece + Nephew - if you want (it's the best thing I can organize)- Dinner for your bro b'day the same night (which ever day you pick that we are in London) - do you know where - if not I can make a suggestion - you need to let me know what type of place he likes - people spotting, posh English, trendy etc?

Hope you are having a fab time

Gx

 At 02:40 AM 4/9/2004 -0500, you wrote:

<blockquote type=cite class=cite cite>So, I'm sure my family is equally as hideous as yours, but here's the status of their trip to your homeland.

My brother booked rooms at the Capital Hotel in London for my mom, my two sisters, a niece and a nephew for 6/1 to 6/11. Turns out my brother wants us to celebrate his 50th birthday with him. He and his wife don't arrive until the 4th, So here's my plan: I'll fly with them to arrive in London on 6/1 (could just be a drop off), we'll pick a night for a dinner with my brother and everyone to celebrate his bday, a day to do something nice with my mom, and other than that I'll be pretty much free from the 1st to the 11th. I'd like to arrange a few nice side trips for them, and more they can do the more we can go hole up somewhere guilt free.

Although I did profess some capabilities, I was completely full of shit, I am a lame, vile talentless person in this regard. If you would be so kind to offer a few suggestions, I would forever be in debt to you and my heart would fill with gratitude. You're in Russia 'til when again, the 4th or 5th?

LT</blockquote></html>