Re: Nautica 42' RIB Demolition Estimate

Dear Mr. Visoski:

As per our meeting yesterday, please find listed below our estimated charges for removing the rear floor, side & rear boxes, & necessary below deck structure & equipment from Nautica RIB hull number (HID) PTJ41007K011:

Total Man Hours: 55 @ $85/hr .....	$ 4,675.00
Misc. Equipment & Materials .....	265.43
	Total: $ 4,938.43

For your convenience I will attach the worksheet used to determine these amounts. It specifies the tasks & materials involved in more detail. As you requested, I will also email you an invoice. As soon as I get your approval I will assign two men to immediately start the careful removal of all of the existing structure & equipment, so that we can more accurately determine what will be required to accomplish your desired modifications to the cockpit deck structure. It is important that the demolition process is achieved without harming anything, including wiring, etc. The marking of all wiring, etc. will also aid the re-rigging of the related systems. We do not plunge into such tasks without taking all necessary care. Though the price listed above is listed as an "estimate", it should be totally accurate – unless some unforeseen factor arises. If this should happen, I will contact you immediately so that we can discuss it.

Sincerely,

Zed Bennett, Pres.
