Re: Jane Does #2 through #8 v. Epstein

Dear Stuart:

When I spoke with Adam on Tuesday, he indicated I would be receiving a letter from you. I believe your clients and your valuation of the cases is greatly misplaced. I have heard your clients testimony; I have listened to their parents and their friends describe issues that they had in their lives separate and apart from and completely unrelated to Mr. Epstein, and yet they are maintaining an unrealistic value of their potential claims.

However, you feel about Mr. Josefsberg's handling of his cases, the one aspect is clear: he was thoughtful, he was aggressive and he actually was looking out for the benefit of his clients who wished to move on with their lives. Without regurgitating that which was said at mediation, I am confident that Mr. Epstein's impact on [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] was, if at all, minimal. On the other hand, other aspects of their lives, which they now gloss over shaped who they were, what they did and who they are now. I will save my thoughts and argument for another day.

On the other hand, we agree on one thing, see you for two hours on June 4th.

Cordially yours,

Robert D. Critton, Jr.
