Re: MRSA cure

Jeff,

You probably remember me from the Proserpi case when I interviewed you (IRS-CID) and when I worked for the Palm Beach Police for 1 year. Called you twice....not sure I had the correct telephone number....wanted to stop by your home with my doctor friend to explain details of his MRSA compound that was recently approved by FDA for its chemistry, stability and the clinical trials. We already know it's 100% effective....applications conducted before contacting FDA.....his gel compound is called VANCOGEL...whereby it's applied to open wounds infected with MRSA.....the healthcare costs related to MRSA in the U.S. alone is 8 billion each year. We have been self-funded throughout the process and need financial assistance to finish up the 3 week clinical trial for each of the 100 patients.....in return for a percentage of the business.....it's a worldwide health issue with unlimited financial possibilities. Please give me a call at your convenience to my cell on the attached business card. Thanks, Ed Rowsey
