Dear Jeffrey,

You have generously supported my research the last few years. The most recent $100K you donated two years ago was supremely useful: because of the lack of restrictions on the gift, I was able to support visitors, students, and activities that can't be supported by government grants.

I'm writing to see if you are interested in continuing the support. If you could support the research, that would be great.

In addition to looking for research support, I'm also looking for ways to support a sabbatical for the academic year 2017-2018 (MIT only pays half my salary for the year).

We have also talked about me checking out MIT's willingness to accept additional donations from you: would you like me to ask around?

Once again, thank you so much for your support: as noted, it is exceptionally effective, and it means a lot to me. Please give me a ring if you'd like to discuss this: [REDACTED].

I hope that you are well and that our paths cross soon. Any plans to show up in Cambridge? The last time was very fun.

Yours,
Seth
