Kendall's reluctance is that there was almost no chance of an informative answer. My reluctance is the same. What is my answer to the question "why do you want to know"? and isn't the timing better after we see if there is anything in the pleading by Cassell that identifies JD 3 so there is at least some relevance to the inquiry. The downside is that the inquiry, implicitly, will be seen as an attack on the methodology that resulted in the victim list and a view that we are going around the 1 prosecutor that is left on the case, Dexter, after he's declined to answer the same question. I think we wait until there is another reason to call Marie/Dexter but I am not unalterably against the request.
