Digital currency , I will try to find first something to read. blockchain. ledger, (proof of work) , is only for mining but like zero knowledge proof, byzantine general etc. an encrypted method of certification. . certification, trust. open ledgers all could play a role.

might be useful to think of certain U.S aid programs paid in digital currency form. as each " coin " is unique, the path it takes from donor to recipient to dictators bank account is easy to trace, while fungible in the whole , every coin , like the current bills, has a serial number, however in the digital currency case, one million dollars would be one million individual numbered dollars. In fact the first use could be transparant charity related stuff.
