Hello Jeffrey

I hope you are doing well? I have been thinking of you frequently these past few weeks.

I have been making some changes in my life and it has led to some volatility in my world which is triggering thoughts and memories that were so buried and numbed.

I believe there are things that may be of use to me to discuss with you if you are open to it and have the time and would find that valuable in any way.

I want to discuss debts, checks and balances and my behaviour and dependencies and whether you have suggestions on how to go about repairing relationships and old bonds and how to discern whether an effort to do so would be wise.

I hope you're having a good day.

Best regards,
