I was assigned to write this book review for the LA Times:

There wasn't space for this paragraph:

In 1972, the Yippies went to the presidential convention in Miami. Younger self-appointed Yippies called themselves Zippies and were very destructive. Yippie Ed Sanders got on The Alex Bennett Radio Show and called Zippie A.J. Weberman a cop. The Zippies found out where Sanders lived in upstate New York. They went there and trashed his Land Rover. They put sugar in the gas tank, but the sugar wouldn't go down. They didn't have any water, so Weberman had to piss in the gas tank to get the sugar to go down. He got arrested for indecent exposure. Yippie!
