Yes you are correct

The point that we must get to is that everything we call the universe is a human construct !

That includes our body mind and every object and thought ! It includes Big Bang Black holes galaxies dark matter dark energy etc

What is the real reality and the source of the constructed reality .

I think the origin of reality is outside our ability to explain it

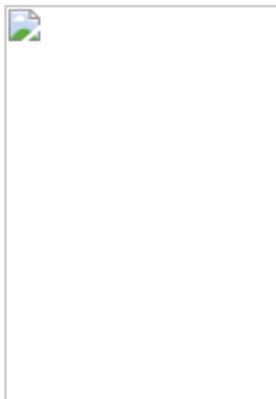

See you on Sunday

I think you might have left out the most important part . KNOWING SEEING the reality of the colors . DOES NOT MATTER< you cant see reality no matter how much you try. forget imagining colors. here right in front of your eyes is provable truth (the colors are the same). however, you cant SEE it . what about yourself falls in the same category.
