Hurrah! Thank you !!!!!

Am I going to dance!

I will Tex her. you will help me to fulfill my dream. I really wanted to dance from child, but the doctors said no dance until my skeleton stops growing.

I loved to draw, but my father did not want me to repeat the path of my older sister from his first wife.

Continue making music after music school, I also could not because my parents were expensive to buy me a saxophone. But it's been in Minnesota friend gave me a saxophone.

I also loved literature. With 4 years of reading books and from 5 years old by writing my poems and stories. At 8 years old was my first publication, and I even got it for a small fee on ice cream. So I became involved in journalism - there is no need to do anything other than pens, paper and their own brains. I got a job at a children's newspaper, and then another column led to serious national newspapers. it even gave me a little money . And even that is not passed in vain. I still am a blog and I have about 100 of my regular readers. But it is doubtful whether this is interesting for you. I just want you to know that I really love to create.

I know about these girls and try to avoid communicating with them. I fear their lifestyle.
