Subject: Verado engine sale

Jeffrey,
Brice, Carlos, "Manuel" and Brian shipped the 3 Verado engine to west Palm beach so I may sell them, all of these people where involved, I have two of the Verado's sold for $10,000 as you know. When the engines arrived in Palm Beach the all gauges, Gauge wire harness and ignitions/keys where not in the engine crates as Brice told me. The past 24 hours, Brice and Carlos have been trying to locate them, Carlos told me he was 99% sure they where loaded in the crates. I asked Brice and Carlos, who exactly was the person to physically load the gauges, I never received a straight answer, each person pointed the finger at each other. I personally open the crates when they arrived in Florida, and did not see the gauges.

These gauges have a new value of $5,200 and used set cost $2,700
The current buyer wants us to provide, which would lower the price to $7,300 for both engines,. there is a cracked engine mount that needs to be replaced for $1,600 which the buyer has agreed to purchase.

-would you accept $8,500 for the two engines, this way I can tell the buyer, we'll split the cost of the gauges with him and get rid of two Verado's? (I still have two 30 inch shaft Verado's to sell also).

thank you,
Larry
