Hey Brice,

I think we've all gotten a bit mixed up by the different email threads going around on this and it has confused what the actual plan is / should be.

This is what I believe we are doing:

1. The trial HomeFusion service in Brice's name is cancelled within the 14-day evaluation period (done).
2. The commercial grade modem & antenna from Feeney Wireless should be ordered and installed.
3. The location where the antenna is attached to the building has been approved by JE.
4. This modem should be activated and added to the existing Verizon Wireless Business account for the Ranch.
5. The data plan shared for this business account should be monitored and increased as needed.
6. Once installed, the modem should be set to bridge mode, allowing the main basestation attached to it to manage the DHCP & NAT for the entire network.
7. No static IP should be ordered; we can add it later if we need it.
8. The microwave T1s should remain in place for the phone system and HVAC on a separate network.
9. The planned upgrade for the microwave connection should be suspended and cancelled once the VZW LTE connection is installed and vetted.

I agree with Brice that the VZW business solution is better for us because:

- The commercial grade antenna will almost certainly provide more stable and reliable service.
- Ties in with the existing account; no need to deal with VZW bureaucracy in setting up residential service.
- The business account allows us to consume more than 30GB per month of data (the HomeFusion maximum).
- We can monitor data usage for the range through the VZW account.

We should not pay the ridiculous $500 static IP fee at this point; it makes more sense to keep the networks separated. We can add it later if we have a compelling reason to merge the internet & phone networks in the future.

Does this sound like a workable plan to everyone?

Home fusion under my SS has been canceled
As discussed this was done on my behalf to see if system worked
Due to the issues we were having getting a personal account in rJeffries name
Darren will need to work out how to get personal account
Jet packs which are on ZDC business account are still active

On the roof itself would be very tricky due to Terracotta Roof Tiles

It would be attached to the side of the fascia

Do you wish to proceed?

attached estimate for Feeney Wireless, Skyus 4G modem and Antenna's

Equipment cost: $1264.55
Installation cost: $750.00
Static IP cost: $500.00 (Verizon)

Total cost: $2514.00

Antenna would be place out on Master Bedroom Terrace, Modem would be installed in storage closet in Master Suite
There is an existing run of Cat 5 from Master Suite storage closet to switch/router in basement, then to New Ranch Network Service is Verizon 4G LTE, and would be billed to Business Account at Business service provision rates.

for your consideration

Brice

Update

New Microwave Pole

New 20 ft Pole and existing microwave dish install will be completed Tuesday next week weather dependent.

Will forward speed test results once link is back up and running

Verizon Home Fusion

Initial install was on mechanical building pole and with basic integration into network

Speed Test results, wireless connection, averaged thru out the MH and RC office computer.

download 11
upload 11
ping 131

Moved Antenna to Master Bedroom Terrace, connected laptop directly to modem outside on terrace.

Speed Test results

download 19.8
upload 16.4
ping 94

I'm presently in contact, thru Verizon Wireless Business Solutions , with Feeney Wireless regarding there Skyus 4G modem and Antenna's Feeney Wireless is a Verizon business partner.

This equipment seems more robust than the residential Verizon modem and router.

Feeney Wirelss have indicated that service would still be Verizon 4G LTE on our business account.

I have request pricing for equipment and confirmation of service provision.

I should have this information next week and will forward when received to all parties

Please note Verizon have recently taken over Plateau Wireless and are now expanding there wireless service to this corridor.

I will be forwarding information regarding our tower location to there network people.

Again will let you know outcome.
