I want to be clear thought i presented this deal I think it not great for you. my idea and like usual the one i prefer is I think we should simply have a note payable from you to david , of 310k today, and 50 percent of your realized carried interest on the two deals . a note in exchange for a release. - your way ties up 400k for many years with no return, and is complicated by disclosures dividends received etc. since there is no definition of profit . to fight him you might declare to bgi that you have no intention of paying back the loan and they can foreclose in lieu of payment. david will then have to sue you and or bill
