Sorry somehow hit send

I have no idea where we are or what that even means these days.

Here's what I know:

10. Paul Allen's CEO sent me a note saying he'd love to check in with me in the next few months. He says Paul is not keen to hire anyone to be chief scientist but would make an exception for me if he does. They keep saying that and I keep following up but this could be a few years of hide and seek.

11. IFC CEO has told me that next year he's opening up a health practice for investing in emerging market facilities etc and asked if I was interested. Not really.

I think that's it from here.
