This is big! It just got announced a minute ago.
It should help them capture so much of a market. It will be interesting seeing what will do for valuation.

ION Solutions and Foundation Medicine Enter Into a Preferred Partnership to Deliver Comprehensive Cancer Genomic Profiling Services

FRISCO, Texas--February 12, 2014

ION Solutions, a diversified physician services organization whose membership represents more than half of the private practice oncologists in the United States, today announced the selection of Foundation Medicine as its preferred partner for comprehensive cancer genomic profiling services.

Foundation Medicine's clinical products, FoundationOne™ for solid tumors and FoundationOne™ Heme for hematologic malignancies, sarcomas and pediatric cancers, each provide a fully informative genomic profile that complement traditional cancer treatment decision tools and often expands treatment options by matching each patient with targeted therapies that are relevant to the molecular changes in their tumor. This relationship will advance the organizations' shared goals of providing comprehensive cancer diagnostic tools to community oncologists and their patients.

"Foundation Medicine is the leader in providing comprehensive genomic profiling to the broad oncology community," said Barry Fortner, President, ION Solutions. "We look forward to our preferred partnership to provide these important tools to community oncologists to help inform treatment decisions and enable precision medicine for their patients."

"ION Solutions is known for bringing cutting edge technologies to its vast network of community oncologists, and we are very pleased to have been selected as their preferred comprehensive genomic profiling services partner," commented Kevin Krenitsky, M.D., chief commercial officer and senior vice president, international strategy, Foundation Medicine. "Our mission at Foundation Medicine is to provide broad access to clinical grade and comprehensive genomic sequencing to oncologists at both academic medical centers and community practices, and we believe this partnership will help further these efforts."

Foundation Medicine has developed the first commercially available targeted sequencing assays using comprehensive, clinical next-generation sequencing to assess routine cancer specimens for all genes that are currently known to be somatically altered and unambiguous drivers of oncogenesis in solid tumors and hematologic malignancies, as well as many sarcomas and pediatric cancers. Genomic profile results are reported to the oncologist and matched with targeted therapies and clinical trials that may be relevant to each individual patient based on the most recent scientific and medical research.
