Just the one statement re human construct

What we call reality - brain body mind universe stars galaxies are human constructs .

It's easy to see that for money, nations, commerce , automobiles , machines , computers even morality - but not so easy to see it about everything else

This reinforces my argument in my next book - You Are the Universe but takes it to a new level

We have imagine the universe into existence and created concepts like birth death and time .

Birth and death happen to experience in every moment of now ( your body / mind Is an experience )

Being is timeless

We confuse the fleeting experience with that in which experience appears .

The true self is not in time , is never born and not subject to death .

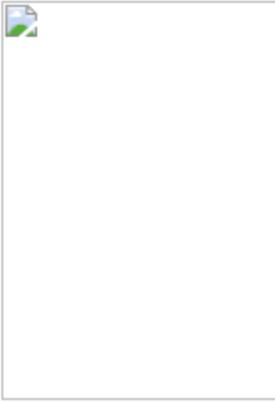

I feel I have what it takes to take the conversation to a new level and adding to that the contemplative practices that I have and teach I can give people a taste of freedom .

Thanks

Deepak Chopra
