Dear Leslie and [REDACTED]

I hope this finds you both well.

I'm checking in to let you know that although I now have one solid offer and another pending, I still remain interested in following up on the second meeting with Jeffrey if he'd still like to keep the appointment. I need to make my final decision by month's end.

Also, I'm happy to provide references from my former jobs with Anna Wintour, Molly Gochman and several other private clients where I worked as an estate manager, personal assistant and advisor, and event manager/planner...in case you'd like to formally check that out.

Please advise if/when a follow up appointment would be convenient.

Very kind thanks,

[REDACTED]

Dear Lesley,

First; please accept my apologies for misspelling your name in every other email I've sent! I realize that I've changed your Lesl"ey" into a Lesl "ie"! How annoying for you- and I'm sorry for that! :)

Additionally, I'm writing to advise you and Sarah that since our last exchange, my presence has been requested for 2 other follow up interviews next week- one of which will take me out of town. Of course, I'd truly love to prioritize meeting Jeffrey again this week, because he's really my top choice! So please do let me know when you're able to confirm a date/time for our 2nd meeting. I'm looking forward to hearing from you, and thank you in advance.

Yours truly,

[REDACTED]

Thank you, Leslie. I look forward to hearing from you. In the meantime, please don't hesitate to contact me if you or Jeffrey have any further questions.

Enjoy your weekend.

Very best,

Good Afternoon, Leslie.

I've just left Jeffrey's home following our meeting. Please be sure to extend my thanks to him for his time. It was lovely meeting him.

Jeffrey mentioned he'd like to meet with me next week when he returns, and that you would be in touch. I look forward to hearing from you regarding the 2nd meeting.

Kindest regards,

Kimberly
