I'll take care of it. Thanks for your help. The management team has impressive credentials. The senior vice president for clinical development; Dr Vincent Miller; was here in New York. We had several patients in common and have spoken on numerous occasions. I can call him as well. It is a VERY competitive marketplace and genomics is the future of oncology. It is cutting edge science and truly exciting. On Nov 26 I'm flying down to Dallas for two nights; I need to see how Warren looks, and I want to personally meet his local doctors so they know that I'm involved; keeps everyone honest. Michael
