I would love to come R and R an see your island sometime. Where do you fly into from Paris? I wondered if your island is on google maps--what is it near that people "know"?

So I certainly wanted to reach out and let you know that I love you all and am so grateful to have you. I hope we continue to make our best effort to spend what precious time we have all been given...together. There is no thing more important than the love of family. I wrote this song, Second Tree, just months after Dad and Anne's passing. When recording my first real album this past summer I decided to include it after all these years. I wanted to share it with you guys today.
