Myths & Facts: Online Exclusive

Are mosques sacrosanct and never used by terrorists?

Even in the asymmetric fight against terror in which civilians are routinely used as shields by militants one might expect mosques to be out of bounds for use by terrorists. They are not. Terrorists find mosques to be ideal places to store weapons and to hide out because they have the benefit of being civilian targets and holy places so that targeting them would lead to international criticism regardless of their non-religious use.

During Operation Cast Lead, Hamas stored ammunition and fired rockets into Israel from mosques. This tactic has been used by radical Muslims in many places, including Lebanon (by Hezbollah), Iraq, Syria and Afghanistan (by the Taliban).
