Good evening, Mr. Epstein -

We have been having some transmission issues; therefore, I am resending you this E-mail from Mr. Woods that was done earlier this afternoon. It includes his note below and an attachment for your review.

Jeffrey,

Transmitted are two concepts for the Library/Study expansion based upon your recent comments to us at the Jaredian Design Group. The layouts expand the number of perspective views of the original options sent by us on April 29, 2014. You will note that on the northern side, we now show options of a walkway in front of the expanded or no walkway. Another variation we are showing in these sketches is where the arched portico wraps around the new bathroom structure on three sides and an option where the portico wraps around the new bathroom structure on two sides. We have "guestimated" the location of the pavilion near the pool. The "As-Built" drawings provided by your office don't show documentation of that structure. We don't believe our proposed portico will conflict with that roof, but that is something we can determine during the site visit next week. We will also be able to discuss in greater detail the variations of whether the proposed portico will be two sided or three sided and any other plan variation proposed thus far. We will also bring copies of the different sketch variations we have done so far to the site visit. It may be that some concepts from earlier variations may be viable to incorporate into this design as well.

Regards,

John

Best regards,

Desiree
