

From: [REDACTED] >

To: Jeffrey Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>

Subject:

Date: Tue, 09 Sep 2014 01:02:29 +0000 just wanted to say that i love you i'm sorry i dropped off in the conversation a month ago when you sent me that email about me never asking you for anything again it's not really about me asking you for things it was really about how I could find intersections where our lives could connect and we could prosper. you just happen to have a shit load more.

i just felt really hurt and disappointed. it still doesn't make sense to me but i'm content to be discontent with it now. can't keep on pushing along a track that doesn't see to want to be. even though we're living separate lives its remarkable how much i still dream about you (don't worry its not always good) and the other evening i woke bolt up right and thought what if jeffrey now thinks I only care for him because of all his fancy. so just to set the record straight that's crap, you're my true love and I only hope that one day i am blessed enough to find that again.