Hello Rich,

I have attached a copy of a quote on the coconuts for you. I sent some photos from my phone earlier today. As we discussed. I have more demand for the smaller coconuts than I have coconuts right now. I have large quantities of larger 21-26'GW coconuts that we want to move so that we can replant our fields. If you can take row run quantities of the larger coconuts so that we can clear beds we will do them at $450 each. If you want to tag them individually in the block we want to clear they will be $650 each. I think you will find that all the trees are quite similar and that the bed run is the best deal.

We also have the ability to dig large quantities quickly and are very familiar with Tropical shipping.

You will need to provide tarps for Tropical shipping containers and we have found that the most cost effective way for you to do that is to buy a large roll of shade cloth and ship it to us. We will cut the necessary length for the containers and tarp the loads for you. We can assist you with the local contacts for the shade cloth or even purchase that for you.

Please let me know if you have any questions and please feel free to come out and visit the farm.

Don't forget to order Diehard Root Reviver Products!

Best Regards,
