Subject: Projects We Love: Living Vicariously

Date: Thu, 28 Jul 2016 22:36:16 +0000

Whether it's experiencing the thrill of a dangerous stunt or the life of a revolutionary hero, this week we're sharing projects that allow us to live vicariously by collapsing time and space in creative ways.

Mine Kafon Drone

By Massoud Hassani

In the next ten years, creator Massoud Hassani wants to rid the world of land mines. His tool: this benevolent drone, which will locate and detonate mines from above before they are able to cause harm.

Eddie Braun Will Jump the Snake River in a 10,000hp Rocket

By Team Evel Spirit

Stuntman Eddie Braun will channel the spirit of his hero, Evel Knievel, as he dares a death-defying jump across Snake River Canyon — a stunt Knievel attempted unsuccessfully in 1974. Watch the nail-biting action from the sidelines in this documentary of a lifelong thrill-seeker.

Graham Reynolds Creates an Experimental Chamber Opera

By Ballroom Marfa
