I've met w the Easton ppl twice already (as a prospective client) and I sent [REDACTED] in to get some info as well. Pretty strange operation...the guys pay like 34k for 6 months, but they only get 1 date per week (max 2) and they don't let you see a pic of the girl before the date, you're supposed to trust them completely. They showed [REDACTED] a photo of a guy they wanted to set her up with, but when I asked to see a photo of a girl they told me they can't for privacy reasons!

Also very strange that they have a 40 client limit (guys), but when asked how many girls they have they told me 1,500! What does that say about them, any girl w legs can get in? Or maybe they just wanted me to believe they had that many girls? Judging by the fact that they showed one of their clients' photos to [REDACTED] (and wouldn't do the same for me), it seems that they don't have too much respect for their paying clients. I didn't meet Richard, just the 3 girls he works with, all american.

Their operation seems to benefit the women more than the men...and I would guess that the men are much higher caliber than the women. I can do a much better job, putting smth together that caters to men, but I still don't have anyone to help w the day to day stuff.

Now they're emailing me every day asking if I'm ready to go on my first date next week (ie. pay the 34k)...
