Let your behavior always be objective and kindly firm. Never hug and kiss them, never let them sit in your lap. If you must, kiss them once on the forehead when they say good night. Shake hands with them in the morning. . . . Try it out. In a week's time . . . you will be utterly ashamed of the mawkish sentimental way you have been handling it."

It was fun. Madars learns quickly. He asked me whether you were going to have kids because he thought it was a waste of your intellect not to have kids. I said that people like him and me are your kids - you're passing on your intellect - and your bad humor.
