Not that bad. But he was talking for about 10 minutes about... MEATBALLS! And it was after he realized that I had no interest in food whatsoever... Seems not that stupid, harvard degree in neuroscience. would not stop talking for a minute - I know everything about meatballs now...

Funny - he was telling me that people with many differences make stronger couples. For instance, he said he would never date anyone too similar to him. I replied that sadly, I had never met anyone too similar to me:))

Anyway, might see him again. Will tell [REDACTED] that [REDACTED] should also meet him
