Re: [REDACTED] v. Jeffrey Epstein

Mr. Critton:

In or around October of 2003, Tony Figueroa took [REDACTED] to Mr. Epstein's house. Tony said that he knows this old rich guy on Palm Beach that travels for work that when he is in town likes to get massages from young girls. Tony told [REDACTED] that if she gave Mr. Epstein a massage, he would pay her $300. Tony drove [REDACTED] to Mr. Epstein's home. They entered through the kitchen, and Tony waited in the kitchen area. Sarah introduced herself and lead [REDACTED] upstairs to Mr. Epstein's bedroom.

Sarah lead the way into the bathroom, where Mr. Epstein was showering, and she left [REDACTED] in the room alone. Mr. Epstein stepped out, naked, and shook [REDACTED] hand before lying face down on the massage table. Mr. Epstein then began asking [REDACTED] questions, including her age, which high school she attended, what she planned to do after high school (he encouraged her to be a massage therapist, telling her that he paid for many people to go to massage therapy school). He then began instructing her as to the proper way to massage, telling her to start at his feet and work up.

When [REDACTED] was massaging his upper legs, Mr. Epstein suddenly turned over. At this point he was completely naked and requested that [REDACTED] get more lotion and massage his chest. While she was massaging his chest Mr. Epstein grabbed [REDACTED] buttock. She told him not to touch her.

Mr. Epstein then told her to "pinch" his nipples, and she responded by massaging his chest area instead. As she was massaging his chest, Mr. Epstein closed his eyes and began masturbating, which shocked [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] was even more startled and afraid when Mr. Epstein forcefully grabbed her butt a second time and pulled her close to him with his left hand while continuing
