 Dear Jee

Never before has one species been able to conquer or impact so many elements on Earth so dramatically. We are accelerating into the future. The rate of change continues to astonish us. Where will it end?

As the pace of change accelerates, we are increasingly asking organizations to become more agile. That means developing the systematic ability to test, learn, adjust and adapt. To tolerate missteps, mistakes, false starts, fumbles, and, yes, even failures.

As a leader we urge you to join us at Creative Innovation 2017 Asia Pacific and bring your stakeholders to understand this acceleration and how it will profoundly change Australia.

As a leader and change-maker you need to prepare your organisation and community for accelerating change and re-think your business model so that you can retain your competitive edge during this massive transformation.
